Photostats

In the July NEWSLETTER of the branch library under the heading "PENALTY FRANK" you were requested to give full information for a journal article so that a photostat could be supplied by the Department Library instead of the entire volume containing the short article. This notice is misleading concerning the method for requesting free photoprints and microfilms of library materials. If a photoprint or microfilm is actually desired by you it should be requested through your bureau Working Tool Representative and not directly from the library or one of its branches. See LIBRARY CIRCULAR NO. 6 (rev. June 1, 1944) for the correct procedure to be used in requesting free photostats and microfilms.

If you wish to read a journal article but do not care whether you receive the original or a photoprint, please request the article from this branch library by submitting form AD-245 giving all information as requested in our July NEWSLETTER, i.e., author & title of the article; volume, date and paging of the journal. Such information makes it possible for the Department Library to send either the original or a photostat, whichever in their judgment is more desirable.
